Paris Ballet To Appear Next in Concert Series

by Tom Mahoney

The Paris Ballet of Lyette Darsonval will appear on the St. Joseph's College stage Thursday night, Nov. 29, in the second program of the year's concert series under the supervision of Mr. Richard Kilmer.

This characteristically French group is touring the United States and Canada under the sponsorship of the French Association of Artistic Action. This is the initial American tour for the company, although it has toured extensively throughout Europe, bringing the French ballet to Belgium, Spain, Switzerland, Germany, Italy, and Egypt.

The company of eight dancers represents several of the great dance centers of France and other important ballets, as well as the Paris Opera. They were chosen by Lyette Darsonval for their ability to meet the unusual technical and interpretive requirements for a wide range of dance and dance styles.

The company includes Gerard Ohn, the leading male dancer, Genevieve Godefroy, Violette Lautard, Alice Bess, Joelle Lancet, Robert Poujol, and Luis Diaz. Piano accompanists will be Gilbert Mellinger and Zenon Fishbein.

Mellinger and Fishbein will perform two solo numbers during the course of the program. Both have given concert tours throughout Europe and have won several honors. Mellinger graduated from the Paris Conservatory of Music, Fishbein from the Santa Cecilia Academy in Rome.

The program to be presented at the Collegeville engagement will span two centuries of dance styles. Included in it will be a suite of brilliant entrées and divertissements from the music of Gounod; "Rondo Capriccioso," an essay of pure dance as related to music by Saint-Saens; and the famed "pas de deux" from Petipa's "Don Quichotte" in its original choreography. Lyette Darsonval herself has done the choreography for the rest of the program.

Mixer, Concert Scheduled For March 16

Regina High School has accepted the Student Council's request for a concert on March 16, according to a letter read at the last Student Council meeting. Arrangements have been made for a mixer with St. Francis College of Joliet to be held after the concert. The Council also gave approval to the Dance Committee's request for a mixer on Dec. 15.

The Council requested that Fr. Schafer lock the side door of the Chapel during Sunday masses. This was done to eliminate the confusion created by the students leaving the Chapel and going to the dining hall. This confusion and noise has been a source of embarrassment to both students and visitors.

A prize of $50 was awarded to the Railroad Club for its Homecoming display. Originally four campus clubs had announced their intentions of entering the display contest, and on this basis the Council put up a $50 prize. However, on Homecoming day, only two clubs had built displays.

The Council awarded the prize, but president Tony Smith directed that an explanation be obtained as to why the Glee Club and Albertus Magnus Society did not put up displays.

The constitution of the weightlifting club has been denied approval. Suggestions for changing the constitution were given, and the club will resubmit it at a later date.

Eisenhower Unanimous In Campus Vote

Apparently setting an example for the rest of the nation, St. Joseph's went Republican and "re-elected" President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon in the mock student election on Monday, Nov. 5.

The Republicans won in landslide, receiving all 157 electoral votes of all the halls voting. The popular vote was 431 for the victors to 220 for the Democratic candidates, Stevenson and Kefauver. Five ballots were unmarked.

Eighty-five per cent of the total student body cast votes in the election.

As in the federal elections, the winner was decided by the total electoral vote. The candidate who received a majority of the popular vote in each hall was awarded all the electoral votes allotted to that hall.

Polling places were set up in all the student halls, with the exception of the White House, Scharf House, Washburn, and Dwenger. Students not living in any of the polling halls, cast their votes in the Rec Hall. The polls were open from noon to 2 p.m. and from 4 o'clock until 6 p.m. Monday afternoon.

The public counting of the votes took place in the Rec Hall at 8 p.m. Monday night.

A pre-election rally was held in the Science Building, Sunday night, Nov. 4, at 8 p.m. Al Salerno, president of the Young Democrats Club and Bill Wolfe, president of the Young Republicans Club, introduced guest speakers who summarized the respective platforms of each party.

Speaking for the Democrats was Judge Patrick J. Barton, of Indianapolis, democratic candidate for state Supreme Court. State Senator John W. Van Ness, republican from Valparaiso, gave the Republican side of the political story.

The student mock presidential election was coordinated by the History Club and the Young Republicans and Young Democrats.

Freshman Convocation Opens Election Race

Sixteen candidates for the freshman class offices gave short speeches at a convocation held on Nov. 14. Enthusiastic applause from the audience of freshman greeted each talk. The purpose of the meeting was to give the students a knowledge of whom they will vote for Nov. 28.

John Bian, president of the junior class, introduced the candidates, who are running for the four offices of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

Five of the 16 are candidates for president: James Moulthrop of Du Bois, Penn.; Roger Emge of Evansville, Ind.; James Blanz of Royal Oak, Mich.; Maurice O'Connor of Evansville, Ind.; and Matthew Lynch of Chicago.

For vice president there are also five candidates: John Carey of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Stan Nawrocki of Gary, Ind.; James Lambke of Chicago; Gary Stack of Elmwood, Ill.; and Edward Reagan of Chicago.

Three are running for secretary: Richard Courtney of Kankakee, Ill.; Paul Sack of Elmhurst, Ill.; and Robert Rzonca of Chicago.

Matt Brady of New Augusta, Ind.; George Cella of Oak Park, Ill.; and Ron Knoerzer of Calumet City, Ill., were the candidates for treasurer.

The general content of the speeches was that the candidate would try to further the aims of the freshman class if elected and perform the functions of his office to the best of his ability.

Name Theme Of '57 Phase

With the 1956 issue of Phase already distributed, the 1957 staff of this student publication is making plans for next year's issue.

Senior, junior, and sophomore class pictures and the club pictures will be taken right after the Thanksgiving holidays. The freshman class pictures have already been taken.

The 1957 Phase will contain the theme of "Wide, Wide Campus"—a panorama of campus life here at St. Joseph's.

Thirteen members of the senior class have been named for inclusion in the 1956-57 edition of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

This annual publication is a listing of the outstanding members of the senior classes of universities and colleges throughout the country. Selection to Who's Who is considered to be one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a senior.

Candidates for representation on the list were nominated by the senior class. The final selection of 13 students was made by the college faculty.

Selections were based upon scholastic achievement, participation in extra-curricular activities, character and general attitude throughout the students' college careers.

Seniors named to Who's Who include: Bernard A. Balas of Gary, Ind., who is majoring in Accounting. Bernie served as treasurer of his junior class and is presently vice-president of the seniors.

He served on the dance and prom committees in his third year and is now a member of the inter-club committee. Bernie is now also president of the Commerce Club, in which he served as secretary last year.

Active for four years in the Columbian Players, Bernie is now vice-president of the organization and served as secretary in his third year. Phase has also claimed him as business manager for the last two years.

Balas held the office of secretary of the Lake County Club in his sophomore year at St. Joseph's.

Richard Flynn of Chicago, also an Accounting major. Rich served as secretary of the Student Council in his third year as well as holding a position on the prom committee.

He is presently chairman of the inter-club committee and is a member of the scholastic committee. Rich has been a consistent member of the Dean's List.

He is also currently president of the Chicago Club.

Robert M. Gasior of Chicago, a Biology Chemistry major. Bob was secretary of his freshmen class and has been on the inter-club committee for the past two years.

He served as secretary of the Albertus Magnus Society in his sophomore year and as president for the past two years. A member of the band, Bob is also its secretary.

Ronald Keller of La Porte, Ind., another Accounting major. Ron has been on the Dean's List all four years here at St. Joseph's and served on the education committee as a junior.

He was on the prom committee last year and has played on the varsity golf squad for the past two years.

Glenn Murphy of Chicago, an Economics major. Glenn is currently president of his class and a member of the Student Council, as well as on the Dean's List.

His other present duties include membership on the sports, scholastic, and disciplinary committees. As a junior Glenn was co-chairman of the prom.

Clifford F. Robinson of Indianapolis, a Physical Education major. A member of the Dean's List, Cliff's main efforts have gone into athletics here at St. Joseph's. For the past four years he has served as a trainer for all the major varsity sports, and is a member of the Monogram Club.

Albert Salerno of Niles, Ohio, who is majoring in Social Science. He was co-chairman of the prom committee as a junior and served on the disciplinary committee in his sophomore year.

He is now president of the Young Democrats and also holds the office of secretary of the Commerce Club.

Anthony M. Smith of Lakewood, Ohio, a history major. Tony is now president of the Student Council and served as its treasurer as a junior.

He also served on the athletic and prom committees last year and

Elect Officers For Competence

Freshmen elections will be held shortly, and we would like to remind the freshmen of the importance of these elections. Any tendency to turn them into popularity contests should be avoided.

The present school year is far from finished, and the officers selected this year will be as important to the class as any officers elected in the next three years.

The freshmen class is new, large, and as yet, not the compact unit that only time will make it. The burden of shaping it into a compact unit that can carry its share of college life will fall for the most part on the shoulders of the four class officers.

The rest of the students and the faculty will be watching, perhaps more closely than freshmen realize, how the freshmen conduct themselves during this election, and watching the officers elected. The impression that the rest of the school receives of the class comes largely through the class officers.

Another reason for careful and clear thinking during the elections is that they are the biggest and first official act of the class, and as such they will play a big part in determining class action and attitude, not only for this year, but also for the next three. The first year is the foundation of college life.

So do some careful thinking before casting your ballots. Cast your vote for the candidate who you think is able and competent, not the one who is just your friend. Of course, the two could be combined, but the competent part comes first.

Reviews At Random

by Jim O'Brien

Life Magazine caused much consternation in the publishing trade when it printed in September of 1952 the complete text of Ernest Hemingway's Old Man and the Sea. Both the wholesale publisher and the retail dealer glanced anxiously at their sales charts, for a book already exposed to such a mass of readers as Life possesses is not apt to find a fertile field of additional readers.

But so enthusiastic was the book's reception that thousands have found it worth their while to plunk down $3 for a Scribner edition and assure themselves of permanent accessibility to this thrilling and deeply moving experience.

The Old Man and the Sea relates the tale of Santiago, an old worn out fisherman. After fishing 84 days and not landing one fish, Santiago, on the 85th day, forsakes his young friend Manolin and the antagonistic fishermen of the village, rows far out onto the desolate sea, and hopefully sets his lines.

Suddenly luck strikes. A giant marlin, so strong that the old man cannot draw him to the boat, takes the bait and begins to pull the boat out onto the broad sea. Santiago, who of late can no longer even dream in his sleep of great occurrences, of great fish, or fights, takes up the fish's challenge. "Fish," he says aloud, "I'll stay with you until I am dead."

From this point Hemingway cleverly interweaves two themes: that of the courageous man facing up to danger and that of the nobility and beauty of nature.

The giant marlin is truly Santiago's enemy. Through an afternoon and night, another day and another night, Santiago calls upon all his fisherman's craft before he is able to thrust his sharp harpoon into the fish's heart.

But the old man does not rejoice. For the battle has brought to him a deep sense of affinity between his own primitive skill and the fish's natural beauty and strength. And just before he makes ready to lash the fish to the boat's side, he says: "I have killed this fish which is my brother."

This sense of comradeship becomes more intense during the journey back to the village. As sharks attack the body of the dead marlin, Santiago drives his harpoon at them time to spend with the individual, where at a large college the teacher has to work on research and other things besides keeping up with his classroom work.

So in summarizing my views I think it is a detriment for a student to go to a large college, because individual attention is an important factor in college life.

Ronald Eberhardt, Massillon, Ohio:

The idea of going "Big Time" might be a good thing but it could hurt a student's education. Large classes make it hard for some students to understand the professor's lecture. A student has less of a chance to ask questions on a problem he doesn't fully understand. This lessens one's interest in class work.

A professor also has a less of a chance to take an interest in each student. Students will lose out where with just a little advice he could have gotten ahead in life. In my opinion a better education is better than going "Big Time."

William G. Grannan, Washington, Ind.:

First of all, I don't believe this rumor has any basis in reality. The thing that set off the rumor is probably the recent announcement of plans to build three new residence halls on campus. This will increase enrollment by only about 100 students, as most of the room will be used to relieve the crowded conditions that exist at present.

Secondly, what does one mean by "Big Time?" That St. Joe would ever go "Big Time" in the sense of a large university is something we need not worry about. This is as it should be. When things grow larger they tend to become more impersonal and this is not good. One of this school's main drawing points is its smallness and I don't think this will change.

Because of the increased student population in America, schools all over are expanding. It is not entirely inconceivable that St. Joe might double its enrollment in the next 10 years, but it won't happen overnight. The school must grow if it is to serve its purpose and I'm for this, but I'm definitely against it going "Big Time."

Dave Verdeyen, Gary, Ind.:

The necessity of St. Joe going "Big Time" grows more evident each year. The ever-increasing number of applicants to the college shows the need for expansion.

An expansion program, however, is a slow and tedious process because a larger enrollment does not only call for more residence halls, but also larger facilities for classes, laboratories, dining and athletics. The expansion program is not a new idea, because in 1931 plans for the expansion of the school were formulated.

GOOD-BY FRIENDS,
GOOD-BY FRIENDS.
GOD SAVE OUR SOULS.
THE RUSSIANS ARE TOO NEAR.

With these last words from a rebel radio station, the Hungarian revolution became history. One of the most dramatic and inspiring thrusts for freedom had been finished. But for five days Hungary had been wildly, hungrily free.

Foreign correspondents are telling of what they saw in those frantic days. The pieces have been put together now and the picture is unbelievably horrible and yet magnificent. It is the portrait of a trick.

There was the Hungarian father who lifted up his son to touch the flag of an American correspondent's car. Or the young girl brandishing a machine gun from behind a bombed out passage way. And there was the old man passing ammunition to his comrades the best he could in his feeble way.

This was the face of a nation so brave that they would not back down to seven divisions of the powerful red army. Now they are gone. God knows what has happened to them. But the Hungarian patriot left two things that hurt the Soviet more than all the Molotov cocktails he could throw in a week.

He left an idea and a hope that has stirred all the free world to a feverish pitch of indignation against the Russians. Even countries still in red shackles can take heart from the thousands of heroisms that were born out of the bloody streets of Budapest.

Dying cries of, "We will fight until the last man!" "Long live Hungary and Europe!" still echo in the ears of the West and all who care to listen, even though those who shouted them now hang from the lamp posts in Budapest.

These indefinably brave people have left a declaration of condemnation of Soviet rule for all the world. It can be read on the parchments of dead heroes' faces, written with the pen of a bullet in the indelible ink of blood.

Could better words be found to pay tribute to these people than those uttered nearly 100 years ago at Gettysburg? "The world can never forget what they did here - - that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause to which they gave the last full measure of devotion - that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

Pumas Undefeated in League Action

Quarterback Ralph Tite was an important cog in the St. Joe team this season. Ralph broke a conference record with his 10 scoring passes and also marked up 48 points scored on his own.

Towards the latter end of the year halfback Norb Daigle came into his own and poured it on for the Pumas. His 24 points ranked him sixth in individual scoring for the year.

Keith Fingerhut ran from almost every position in the Puma backfield and was equally effective at all of them. Playing consistently fine ball, Keith ended the season with 36 points.

Luckless Bob Hamman was again this year headed for All-Conference honors when a serious knee injury sidelined him for almost half the games. Bob still went on to plague opponents, however.

Fullback Mike Murphy earned the title of a "bread and butter" ballplayer this year with his outstanding work throughout the season. His 48 points put him in a tie for lead honors with Tite and Sherwood.

George Sherwood was a thorn in every foe's side this year. The rangy end pulled in 12 passes and made 7 of them good for touchdowns. His alert playing accounted for 48 Puma points.

St. Joseph Crushes 6 Foes In March - Undisputed Crown

by Dave Carey

The football Pumas of 1956 left a lasting impression in St. Joseph's College's athletic history by making a clean sweep of the 1956 Indiana Collegiate Conference to emerge undisputed ICC champions.

Spearheaded by the passing and ball handling techniques of quarterback Ralph Tite, the Puma backfield broke the backs of opponents with their galloping long gains. The Puma line opened up gaping holes for the impressive ground advances of Norb Daigle, Ray Banary, Mike Murphy, Paul Scherschel, Keith Fingerhut, and Bob Hamman.

Foes Get 100 Yards a Game

The Puma forward wall of Jerry Selinger, Bill Brinkman, Ray Knight, Ken Bates, and Tom Huhn continually proved unpenetrable in holding ICC opposition to less than 100 yards per game. George Sherwood and John Kobza performed admirably, both offensively and defensively, at the end posts.

St. Joseph's opened the drive to the crown by subduing DePauw, 32-0, on Sept. 29. Murphy led the ground attack in this one with 84 yards in 17 tries and a TD. Tite, Fingerhut, and Banary contributed the other scores.

Murphy Leads March on VU

The Pumas then traveled to Valparaiso on Oct. 6 to hand the arch-rival Crusaders their worst defeat in the series with the Joemen, a 35-0 lashing. Murphy's three touchdowns, 117 yards, and 31 non-loss rushes paced the potent Puma attack. The rigid Puma defense held Valpo to a humiliating 45 yards total offense.

Indiana State's Sycamores were victims of, at that time, a record-breaking 59-13 onslaught at the hands of St. Joe on Oct. 13. Murphy and Scherschel led the gleeful nine touchdown slaughter with two markers apiece.

Tite's Passing Crushes Butler

Next on the list was the supposedly closest contender to St. Joe for the championship laurels. Butler's Bulldogs were out to put a stick in the Puma wheel of progress. But by the time the smoke had cleared on the afternoon of Oct. 20 in the Butler Bowl, Tite's four TD passes had thoroughly erased any hopes of the title going to Indianapolis. The Pumas had once again proved impressive on their march to the top by emerging with a convincing 31-6 victory.

The team that kept the Pumas from a perfect conference record in 1955 tasted bitter defeat as St. Joseph's determined gridgers trounced Evansville's Purple Aces 29-0, Oct. 27 in the annual Homecoming classic. Banary's and Daigle's timely sprints provided some of the thrills for the overflow crowd.

Pumas Score in 23 Periods

The Pumas left no doubt as to who was to claim this year's crown. They moved onto Ball State's field Nov. 3 and didn't stop moving until they had satisfied that thirst for the crown. The result was a record-breaking 66-0 pounding of the Cardinals. Sherwood's three touchdowns and Hamman's and Daigle's long dashes paced the over-powering slaughter.

The perfect conference season saw only one quarter left unscored in by the Pumas—the third quarter of the Butler game.

SJ Hopes High For Aluminum Bowl Bid

Saint Joseph's College has declined an invitation to play in the Refrigerator Bowl in Evansville, according to a letter sent by Fr. Shea, athletic director, to the Refrigerator Bowl Committee of the Evansville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The letter stated in part that: "The NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) has refused to release Saint Joseph's College participation in the Refrigerator Bowl since we are still in contention for their bowl." The NAIA's bowl is the Aluminum Bowl, which will be played in Little Rock, Ark., on Dec. 22, and which will be televised and broadcast nationally.

The winner of this bowl, which will be the first of an annual series, will be recognized by the NAIA as the champion football team among small colleges.

Saint Joseph's has also been contacted by officials of the Tangerine Bowl about the possibility of a post-season game. The Tangerine Bowl will be played in Orlando, Fla., on Jan. 1.

John Kobza showed the fight that made St. Joseph's conference champs. From his left end position John practically nullified even the thought of end runs by the opposition.

Bill Brinkman's outstanding line-play at left guard evenly balanced the Puma forward wall. Bill, only 185 pounds, was another of the mainstays that bolstered the center of the line.

Right tackle Ken Bates showed the ability and determination that made St. Joseph's the toughest defensive team of any small colleges. Though mild-mannered enough off the gridiron, Ken displayed fierce aggressiveness on the field that made him invaluable to the squad.

Center Jerry Selinger was a "Jack-of-all-trades" for the Pumas this season. In addition to attending admirably to his middle-of-the-line duties, Jerry kicked six extra points.

Biggest man on the team was left tackle Tom Huhn at 210 pounds. "Rough, tough, fast, and aggressive," Tom was a stalwart in the St. Joe defensive picture, which limited ICC competition to a total of 539 yards on the ground.

Puma Squad Breaks 15, Ties 7 League Records

The 1956 ICC champion Pumas broke 15 conference records and tied seven others through their perfect 6-0 conference season.

The most impressive of these are their offensive and defensive records. The Pumas had the most points scored by an ICC team in any one season, most total offense yardage, most yards gained from rushing, and best per-game average of yards gained. The rigid Puma defense allowed least points scored against in one season and least yards gained against.

Ralph Tite's record-breaking 10 touchdown passes and George Sherwood's six scoring passes caught head the list of individual records. The complete list of broken and tied records follows with the old records in parentheses:

Individual Records—Single Season Most extra points scored—14 Dick Hagye (also by Arnold, Valparaiso, 1951)

Ray Banary, playing his last year in a Puma uniform, provided a bulk amount of the St. Joe ground attack. He was named the most valuable player of this year's Homecoming game by virtue of his spectacular 9.8 yards per carry and 47-yard TD dash. The high-stepping halfback has been harassing opposing defenses with his shifty, hard-running tactics.

One of the main reasons for the Pumas' success this season was the outstanding lineplay. The "first string" forward wall included (from left to right): George Sherwood, Ken Bates, Ray Knight, Jerry Selinger, Bill Brinkman, Tom Huhn and John Kobza. Some of the records the squad set included least points scored against (19) and least yards gained against (590). This last record cut the old one of 1022 almost in half.

Without the expert coaching that the Pumas received this year, it is doubtful whether they would have finished anywhere near the top of the conference. Head coach Bob Jauron (center) and his two assistants, Dale O'Connell and Bob Shemky (left and right), molded a group of good ballplayers into what the college regards as a great team.

St. Joseph's College maintained its number one position in total defense among the nation's small colleges, according to the recent release from the NAIA statistical bureau which included games of the weekend of Nov. 10.

The Pumas have an average of 109.0 yards allowed to opponents per game. The closest team to the top spot, in this department is Hillsdale College of Michigan with an average of 125.3 total defense yards.

St. Joseph's moved up in the offense ratings by virtue of its 606 yards against Navy Pier. The Pumas now rank 10th nationally among small colleges with 388.4 total offense yards per game. The number one team in this department is Mississippi Vocational with an average of 507.9.

Senior Paul Scherschel performed admirably at the fullback slot in his final year for St. Joe. He consistently ripped through the enemy defense for substantial gains as is evidenced by his respectable average of five yards per carry. Highlighting his last season were two touchdowns in the 59-13 Puma romp over Indiana State.

St. Joe Pounds Illini 71-0 To Wrap Up '56 Season

A cold Shewbridge field in Chicago was made to sizzle Friday night, Nov. 9, as St. Joseph's Pumas closed their most successful regular season in 14 years with their most crushing victory of the season and of the college's history, a 71-0 romp over the University of Illinois Chicago Branch.

The victory gave the Pumas a final season record of 8-1. St. Joseph's had undefeated teams back in 1941 and 1942, when they won eight and seven games, respectively.

Score 11 Touchdowns

It was not a question of, "Who's got the ball?"; it was simply a matter of, "Who's scoring now?" The attack was that overwhelming.

In the scoring, quarterback Ralph Tite, halfback Norb Daigle, and fullback Mike Murphy each accounted for two touchdowns. End George Sherwood, halfbacks Keith Fingerhut, Tom Deem, and Ray Banary, and quarterback John Stuber rounded out the scoring with one apiece.

Illini Make 132 Yards

Although St. Joe pounded the Chicago Illini with a heason high of 11 touchdowns, the outmanned Navy Pier squad did accomplish some satisfaction by running up a total of 132 yards against the nation's best defensive small college team.

The Pumas had gone into the fray leading the nation defensively with an average of 106 yards per game against them rushing and passing. The Illini racked up 56 yards on the ground and 76 yards through the air on three completions.

This dent in the Puma average, however, is not expected to cost them their defensive lead, since they hold a margin of some 20 yards per game over every other small college defense in the country.

Daigle Averages 25 Per Carry

Rushing honors once again went to Norb Daigle, who piled up a sensational 178 yards in seven carries for an average of 25.4 yards a try. Halfback Bob Hamman averaged 15 yards a carry with 75 yards in five attempts. The entire team traveled 466 yards on the ground in 46 tries for an average of 10.13 yards a run.

Tite completed four passes on eight attempts, two for touchdowns, for 140 yards to give the Pumas their greatest offensive total of the year—606 yards.

Seventh Tite-to-Sherwood TD

The Pumas' first score came after they took the opening kickoff, going 77 yards in three plays, with the pay-off coming on a 64-yard pass from Tite to Sherwood, the seventh time this year that this combination has scored. The second touchdown, sparked by a 43-yard run by Hamman, came after a 60-yard march in seven plays, with Tite sneaking over.

Pumas To Face Notre Dame, Xavier in Basketball Openers

by Joe Gregorich

The 1956-57 edition of the St. Joe basketball team opens its season with a high note, facing two of the midwest's top basketball powers in their first three games. After opening at Crawfordsville, Ind., against Wabash, the Pumas will travel to Cincinnati to face Xavier University, then to South Bend to engage the University of Notre Dame. The tilt with the Irish will be ND's season opener.

St. Joe then travels to Valparaiso to face their arch-rivals in the first conference game of the season. The Pumas will not make their debut at the home fieldhouse until Dec. 10, when they entertain the DePauw Tigers.

Head basketball coach Dale O'Connell will boast a veteran lineup, which includes some 14 members from last year's squad. Last year's hardwood team, which posted a season record of 10 wins and nine losses, finished in a tie for fourth place in the ICC with six wins in 12 conference tilts. Evansville captured the 1955-56 conference title with just two losses in 12 games.

Heading this year's roster will be last year's entire first two teams. Returning to the center post is 6-5 senior Dan Fenker, the team's leading scorer and rebounder last year.

Fenker, who holds the fieldhouse scoring record for a single game with 37 points, will be pressed by ex-serviceman Jack Wilz. Wilz, also a senior, previously held the record of 36 points.

Strengthening the center position is Angelo Dattoma, a sophomore who averaged nine points a game as a reserve.

Heading the list of forwards is 6-4 Greg Jancich, who placed on last year's all-conference squad. Jancich averaged 15 points a game in conference play, while compiling an .851 free throw percentage.

Other forwards include senior Jim Noll, sophomore Bill Lewis, and junior Ron Giametti. Noll is a two-hand set shot artist. Lewis averaged 17 points a game, as well as being a defensive stand-out and a top rebounder.

Heading the guard position is 5-7 Dan Rogovich, who compiled an impressive 19-point a game average during the last half of the season. Rogovich came directly to St. Joe last semester after graduating from Lindbloom High School.

Joining Rogovich in the backcourt will be either Ray Banary or Gerald Alstadt, both seniors. Banary, while averaging 12 points a game, led the team in assists.

The other players who round out the squad are guards George Lux, John O'Neil, and George Rickord, and forwards Jack Clifford, Jim Elbert and Jim Walker.

Everyone loves a winner and this year we have one. For the first time since the formation of the I. C. C., we have an undisputed championship. In six league games the Pumas ran up 249 points for an average of 41.5 points per game while holding the opposition to a mere 19 points or 3.1 per game. Four of the six games went to the Pumas via the shut-out route, DePauw 32-0, Valparaiso 35-0, Evansville 29-0, and Ball St. 66-0.

What does coach Jaaron think of all this? "To tell you the truth I was surprised. This team has matured a lot since last season. 75% of the team last year were freshmen. This year we're mostly sophomores and juniors. I'd hate to predict the outcome of a game between our first and second teams. That's how evenly balanced we are and it makes a lot of difference when you can field two teams like that. Why practically every team we met this season outweighed us by 10 pounds per man. But every kid on this team wanted to play football and that made up for our lack of size. On aggressiveness this team would go anywhere. Another surprising part of this season was the lack of serious injuries."

At this point Dr. Beaver walked into the room and coach Jaaron introduced him as "the man most responsible for having Bob Hamman back on the active list so soon. Of course," he added, "Hamman deserves a lot of credit there too, because he had to have the will to play again so soon after that knee operation."

The basketball season opens Dec. 1 when the Puma cagers begin the start of a 20 game schedule by playing Wabash at Wabash. Head cage coach Dale O'Connell declined to make any predictions as to how the team would look, but he did say that the amount of hustle and fight that the team shows will determine to a large extent how far they will go this season. At the present time there are 13 men out for the squad but there will be more when the football season ends. In the daily practice sessions coach O'Connell is stressing fundamentals, especially defense.

Besides playing each I.C.C. team twice, the Pumas journey to South Bend Dec. 5 to play Notre Dame and to Xavier on Dec. 2 to play a strong Crusader team. This Xavier team is the same one that went to the quarter finals of the National Invitational Tournament at Madison Square Garden last year before bowing to Dayton U.

Sherwood Scores Three

The touchdown took five minutes and was to be followed by nine more, breaking the ICC record held by St. Joe in the 59-13 rout of Indiana State earlier this year. The scoring was led by end George Sherwood with three TD's.

In addition to Banary's opening score, Sherwood was backed up by halfback Bob Hamman with two, and one apiece by halfbacks Norb Daigle, Keith Fingerhut, Danny Lyman, and quarterback Jim O'Brien.

Center Jerry Selinger successfully converted after five of the scores and end Dick Hagye added one more placement.

7-0 After First Period

Ball State took the kickoff after St. Joe's initial touchdown and moved from their own 33 down to the Puma 43 where St. Joe took over on downs. The Cards never got as far as the Puma 43 for the rest of the afternoon.

The Cardinals were able to contain the league-leading Pumas fairly well in the first quarter which ended with the Pumas leading, 7-0. But minutes after the second quarter began the Pumas took a punt on the Ball State 46. After an incomplete pass, Hamman went around end for 46 yards and the score.

That opened the gates and before the half was over the Pumas had two more touchdowns and a convincing 27-0 lead.

Daigle Chalks Up 11 Per Carry

The third score came when St. Joe, picking up steam now, went 77 yards in two plays—a nine-yard run by Banary and a 68-yard gallop by Daigle. Daigle, who shone the brightest among several bright Puma stars, led the St. Joe offense for the second straight week with 118 yards in 11 tries, an average of almost 11 yards per carry. The New Hampshire sophomore also reeled off two more runs of some 45 yards each, only to have them called back because Fiery Danny Lyman again exhibits some of his fancy footwork that makes him a dangerous open-field runner. This time his stepping is against the Ball State Cardinals. Other Pumas shown in the picture are Bernie Beland (34), who is coming up behind Lyman, and Bill Reigle (22), who had just finished throwing a key block. St. Joe crushed the Cardinals 66-0 to end a perfect ICC season.

INTRAMURAL SCOREBOARD

by Tom Uecker

In a thrilling climax to this year's Intramural Touch Football competition, Noll's Gamokes edged the Chi-Leftovers from W. Seifert 14-7, in the final tournament game. Noll scored early on a pass from Greg Jancich to Bob O'Brien, with George Lux adding the P.A.T. on a pass. In the third period, the Gamokes added another T.D., this time on a pass from Jancich to George Rickord. Lux again snagged a pass for the conversion. Late in the final quarter, Dave Thorpe hit Jim Helvie in the end zone for the Leftovers score, and then pitched to Ray Kuzniar for the extra point. The Gamokes thus added the tourney championship to their Upper Class League superiority.

Bowling got underway last week, with 24 teams competing in this year's program. There are three leagues: Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of six, eight and 10 teams, respectively.

Basketball entries are now being received, and plans call for play to begin during the first week of December. Classes may be divided as in touch football to balance the power, but this is as yet undecided until all of the entries are in.

For the sportsmanship trophy, this year the different teams will rate each other on the basis of team spirit, hall spirit, etc. The team having the highest number of rating points will receive the trophy awarded at the All-Sports Banquet.

To check out I.M. equipment, you must have an I.D. or driver's license, etc. The I.M. office will not be responsible for any valuables left in the I. M. Office or in locker rooms.

Records Fall; So Does State

Puma reserves immediately intercepted another pass and went 77 yards in nine plays, all on the ground, with O'Brien sneaking over from the three to make it 46-0 with several minutes of the fourth quarter gone.

Tite Breaks Passing Record

Moments later Hamman took a Cardinal punt and in typical Hamman fashion wheeled 66 yards for the score. The onslaught, fast and furious now, continued when Tite, after a 19-yard run by Hamman, threw a record-breaking 24-yard touchdown pass to Sherwood to make it 60-0.

It was Tite's tenth scoring pass of the conference campaign which broke the old record of nine. The little quarterback from Chicago made them count this Saturday, completing only two, both for TD's, in five attempts.

Lyman Closes Scoring

The final score came on a 55-yard march in five plays, with Lyman ripping off the last 29 yards to make it 66-0. It was a fitting climax to an afternoon which closed the 1956 ICC campaign, a campaign that saw St. Joseph's break 15 conference records and tie seven others.

The Pumas enjoyed their greatest ICC day statistically. They piled up a mighty 487 yards on the ground and, added to Tite's 75 aerial yards, a 562 total. Against Ball State, the Puma defense allowed only 95 yards, including 66 on the ground, to solidify their status as the best defense in the nation among small colleges.

the first quarter—that the Chicago Illini made their only serious threat of the game, a march down to the Puma 17. But there they were stopped.

Lead 32-0 at Half-time

The third score came on a 57-yard march in five plays, with Daigle going the final 21 for the score. With the score 19-0, the Pumas were on their way. Before the half was over, Fingerhut had scored on a four-yard run and Daigle had scored his second on a 39-yard jaunt to cap a 56-yard march in three plays.

The pace was even faster in the second half. Tite went 22 yards on a bootleg to complete a 55-yard drive in four plays; Murphy went eight yards to paydirt in one play; Murphy again traveled six yards to cap a 48-yard march in five plays; Deem went 18 yards on the second leg of a 34-yard, two-play march; Stuber led a 34-yard drive in six plays, going over from the one himself; and Banary completed the scoring by skipping 15 yards for the final score.

End Dick Hagye converted five times to bring the final tally to 71-0. The shut-out was the sixth inflicted by St. Joe this season. The win was their eighth straight since losing the season opener to Xaxier in the last 55 seconds, 13-8.

Commerce Club Tours Steel Works

The first semester field trip of the Commerce Club has been termed a success although the turnout did not meet expectations. A busload of Commerce Club members took the Nov. 1 guided tours of the Gary Works of U.S. Steel Corp. and Gary Sheet and Tin, a U.S. Steel subsidiary.

At Gary Works, which is the world's largest production-wise, almost all stages of steel production were viewed. Included in the tour were the coke plant, the open-hearths, and several finishing mills. Club members viewed the entire steel sheet-making process at Gary Sheet and Tin.
